This research project is focused on school improvement, especially as it relates to the teaching and learning of early reading at intensive school sites, also known as Co-Development Partner (CDP) schools, in the Pacific region. The assessment tool targets a reading comprehension strategy referred to as story structure. Intended or use with pre-readers/early readers, this llwordlessll assessment tool is designed to purposefully elicit oral language evidence of the learner s ability to create story episodes and make connections between episodes. It is wordless, partially to address the needs of numerous pre-readers entering CDP schools and partially to address the varying language(s) of instruction across CDP sites. The task requires the learner to tell a story based on the visual prompts provided. The Pacific CHILD is designed to respond to three critical issues currently identified by Pacific educators: (1) the need to improve student performance in early reading; (2) the need for schools and communities to have better information about how well students are doing; and ( 3 ) the need for teachers and administrators to improve their teaching and learning skills by focusing on student achievement. This descriptive report is divided into the following sections: Introduction; Reading Comprehension Processes; The Assessment Tool; Initial Trials with Pacific Learners; and Future Considerations. Assessment Tool Drawings are appended. (Contains 20 references and 2 tables.).
